Angela Davis is an accomplished R&B / Soul artist who sings with the grace of Jill Scott and the flair of Jennifer Hudson. Audiences everywhere are inspired by her exceptional vocal skills and her wonderful stage presence.

ANGELA'S story begins with the Renaissance High School Varsity Choir in Detroit where she earned numerous awards, toured across the country and was first recorded. Soon afterwards, she began writing and arranging her own songs. An artist was born.

College beckoned next and she spent four years at the prestigious University of Michigan where she earned a Bachelor's Degree in Education and performed on music and theatrical stages. It would provide her with the experience, focus and work ethic needed for her future music career.

After college, Angela hit the stage, performing whenever and wherever she could in order to get noticed and to build a reputation as a first-rate singer. It paid off. Soon she was invited to appear at some of the most popular music venues in Detroit - including Baker's Keyboard Lounge, The Jazz Club, The Music Hall Jazz Café, Bert's Motown Lounge, Ignite at the MGM Grand Casino, Campus Martius Park, and Chene Park Amphitheatre. She was on her way.

ANGELA has sung alongside some great vocalists like Alexander O’Neal, Cherrelle, Penny Wells, Misty Love, Howard Hewitt, and Soulsinger J Tait. She has performed with noted musicians like Detroit Hall of Fame saxophonist, Duane Parham, and legendary Detroit keyboardist, Al McKenzie. But when Angela does her own shows, her “Solid Pocket Band” is there to back her up and make her shine.

ANGELA’S debut record album, “Flying High”, was released in 2012. It features a splendid mix of R&B, Jazz and Soul musical flavors. The songs are emotional, inspiring and reflective.

“Singing is a way for me to tell my story and relate to the audience. It brings me pure undeniable happiness.”
